

mail2web.com launches Review Services portal for Popular Online Services

mail2web.com®, a popular Web Email portal and Hosted Exchange Email service provider, has recently launched a new Review Services portal to help consumers locate quality online services in a number of different product categories.

Toronto, Ontario – April 4, 2011: Expanding from Webmail and Mobile Email, mail2web.com and parent company SoftCom, a North American firm with customers worldwide, is launching a customer review portal featuring editorial information and consumer reviews of the most popular products and online services.

According to Product Manager Jeremy Adams, "The goal of this review portal is to provide a transparent consumer review and rating system for online services. When you trust a company with your assets, credit or personal safety, you need to know exactly what you're getting and our Services Review section is designed to do that."

With the new Review Services portal from mail2web.com, consumers can access company information, read consumer reviews, compare service providers and share their own experiences. Service reviews include credit card companies, credit monitoring services, online backup providers, online dating sites, VoIP phone service, anti-virus software, and security products.

Comparison shopping is a cinch with mail2web.com review services. Consumers can compare interest rates, fees, dating-site member bases and relevant data with one click, and all the information is displayed on one screen. mail2web.com reviews makes it easier than ever to compare services and learn who is better before you buy. Compare Norton™ with McAfee®, AVG™ and the most popular anti-virus options or weigh the benefits of joining Zoosk®, chemistry.com™, match.com® or one of many of the other lesser-known online dating services like Lavalife®.

Consumers can also find great deals and free trials on many products and services featured on the site. Product and service reviews are the newest addition to the customer-friendly features offered through mail2web.com. SoftCom's pioneering efforts earned them a recent award for Excellence in Messaging & Collaboration Services and Parallels Automation for their work in facilitating global communications. The original Email Hosting, Mobile Email and Free Webmail Retrieval services that made mail2web.com famous will still be offered through the company's website.

SoftCom is a leading provider of Web hosting, VPS Hosting and Microsoft®-based Hosted Exchange Email that are compatible with smartphones, including iPhone™, BlackBerry®, Windows® Phone and Android™ devices. The parent company SoftCom, and its subsidiaries including myhosting.com™ and mail2web.com, are expanding operations and introduced complimentary services like the Review Services website to better assist its existing customers and all online consumers, in North America and around the world.
